big activity book
Calling all Active English Learners . . . !

Welcome to English Banana.com’s big activity book. This is the fourth compilation of worksheets and activities from the popular English Banana.com website. The aim this time is to engage learners from about Level 1 (Intermediate) upwards in active English lessons. This extensive new collection provides a varied and interesting set of resources for practising a range of English language skills, from grammar to reading, and vocabulary building to developing research skills.

It’s divided into subject areas and there is a comprehensive answer section, which also gives notes for how to use the material. We have included two special sections towards the back of the book. The first is a collection of classroom games that have been tried and tested and really work. Some may be familiar while others are totally original. In publishing descriptions of these games and activities we are not in any way laying claim to having invented them. Our only aim is to disseminate ideas that work well at a range of levels and always seem to get a great response from learners.

The second special section is for reference and lists rhyming words, using the vowels and diphthongs from the International Phonetic Alphabet (IPA). These pages provide support for learners as they come to identify spelling patterns and match together words with the sounds of English. However you use the book, we hope that you’ll enjoy learning English and come to a deeper understanding and appreciation of this fabulous language – which can be so entirely frustrating at times and so difficult to learn!

If you enjoy this book why not get online and log onto our website for more original and fun activities for learning English. Best of all, everything on the website is absolutely free! So for access to free printable worksheets, as well as fun online games and quizzes, get your mouse moving in our direction today – click on www.englishbanana.com.

Finally, I must say a big thank you to all my learners who have been testing and trialling the material that appears in this book. It’s been great working with all of you. Thanks for showing me what you liked and didn’t like.

Hope you really enjoy this book.

The Funny Noise –
Irregular Verbs in the Past Simple Tense

a) Read the letter below from Alan to his friend Ethel. All the irregular verbs have the wrong ending – a regular ‘-ed’ ending! Underline each one.

b) Write the letter again, using the correct past simple form of each irregular verb.

Dear Ethel

I’m writing to tell you about something that happened yesterday. I getted up at the usual time – about 10am – haved a shower and maked breakfast. I eated a big bowl of cereal and some toast and watc hed TV for a while. Then I goed into the kitchen where I heared a funny noise. I thinked it comed from behind the cooker. I getted my tool box and moved the cooker out of the way.

The noise getted louder but I couldn’t see anything. I ringed my uncle to ask his advice. He sayed that he thinked it coul d be a gas leak. When I heared this I just panicked! I putted the phone down, runned outside, getted in my car and drive d to the local police station. I telled them about my gas leak but the constable losed his patience with me. He sayed that I should have phoned the gas company. He writed his report, then ringed the gas company for me.

Then I remembered that my house doesn’t have gas - only electricity! I feeled really stupid and knowed that the constable would be angry with me for wasting his time, so I runned out of the police station while he ised still on the phone. I goed home to try to find out what the noise ised. On the way I buyed a newspaper and I readed about an escaped llama that breaked out of the city safari park last Wednesday.

When I getted home I putted my key in the door, turned it, goed inside and straight away heared that funny noise again. I holded my breath and opened the door slowly. Guess what? I finded the llama hiding in my cupboard! I letted him stay and he slepted in my garden last night. The snoring ised so loud! This morning I taked him back to the safari park. They ared really pleased to see him again and gived me a reward of £50!

Hope you are well. Write soon and let me know how you are. Your friend,

Alan

"When did you leave school?"

"I left school nearly fifteen years ago. My favourite subjects was English, Franch and History. I enjoyed French because it was interesting learning to speak a different language and I had a good teacher. I didn’t like Science or Maths because they were a bit harder and I didn’t like the teachers much. I’ll never forget when our class went on a trip to France. We stayed in Paris for nights. It was the first time I’d been abroad. My friends and I had so much fun!"

See if you can find all the spelling and punctuation mistakes in Sandy’s letter:

25th September 2004
cardiff, uK

Dear aunt Monica

Thank you very much for your letter. It was great to get a letter from you. I am really enjoying University life. I have made some good friends already, especially Helen and Marcus. Helen is from Manchester and Marcus comes from Liverpool. His accent is really weird.

Yesterday we went to Cardiff to do some shopping. Everything is much more expensive than back at home. I miss Jamaica and of course I miss you and my naughty little brothers. Cardiff is a big city – the capital city of Wales. Wales is next to England and a separate country, but they are both part of the UK. It’s confusing, isn’t it?

My course is very interesting. I am leaning so much about the environment of this country. My teachers are good, accept I wish they would speak more slowly sometimes. I can’t always hear everything that they are saying. That’s why I’m using a small tape recorder to record every lecture. Then I can listen to it in my room as I study. It’s really helps.

Thank you for asking about all my boyfriends. No, I haven’t met anyone yet. I’m here to learn about the environment and practice my English, rather than go out drinking in pubs and clubs with boys every night! I hope that I will find someone who shares my interests. Until that time; you will have to make do with me being a single girl!

With lots of love to you and my darling brothers Roger and Paul, and all my family and friends there. I will see you very soon. Hope I will hear from you soon too.

Your loving niece,

Sandy x x x x

Samantha was walking home from work one day last month, when she saw a man who was trying to break into a car. She asked him what he was doing and he told her to, "Get lost!" She ran to a nearby shop and asked the owner to call the police, which he did immediately. When she went outside again she saw that both the thief and the car had gone. About ten minutes later, a police car stopped outside the shop. A policewoman got out and asked Samantha some questions about the incident. She asked her to give a description of the car and the thief. Samantha said that the car was a dark blue Ford Focus with the registration number TR03 RMN8. She said that it had a large scratch on the right hand side. She described the man as tall with short dark hair. She said that he was slim, looked about twenty-five years old and was wearing a blue denim jacket and black jeans. The policewoman wrote down everything in a notebook. Samantha felt a little shaken but was glad to be able to help. A few days later she found out that the thief had been caught in Newcastle and that the car had been returned to its owner, undamaged.

19. Was the car damaged? ________________________
20. What was the thief’s name? ________________________
Anna:

“I’m planning my holiday for next summer and I don’t know whether I should have a lazy holiday or an exciting one. Last year I went on holiday to southern Spain with my best friends, Joanna and Ling. We stayed in a brilliant four-star hotel, which had three swimming pools. It was quite expensive but we really enjoyed ourselves and we all got great suntans! This year, Joanna is going away with her parents to Greece so it’ll be just Ling and me. Ling wants us to go on an adventure holiday in Africa, the type where you have to go walking in the desert and sleep out in the open. She said it would be interesting and better than having a lazy holiday because we would learn about the world around us and see some wild animals. I’m not sure whether I want to go to Africa. For me, a holiday means relaxing on a beach, not trekking across the middle of nowhere. Ling said that we’d see elephants and zebras and have some amazing experiences. I think she’s bored of lying in the sun all day and fancies a change. I’ve got to make up my mind by next Monday at the latest so that she can book the tickets. It would cost £1,400 each to go to Africa, but less than half that amount for two weeks in Portugal.”

Questions:

1. When is Anna going on holiday?
2. Name her two closest friends.
3. True or false – last year she went to northern Spain?
4. How many swimming pools did their hotel have?
5. Was the hotel expensive?
6. True or false – only Anna got a good suntan?
7. Where is Joanna going on holiday this year?
8. Who is she going with?
9. What type of holiday does Ling want this year?
10. Where does she want to go?
11. Does Anna want to go with her?
12. Why does Ling want to go on this type of holiday?
13. What does Anna enjoy doing on holiday?
14. What animals does Ling hope to see?
15. What sort of experiences does she expect to have?
16. When does Anna have to let Ling know about the holiday?
17. How much would it cost each of them to go to Africa?
18. Would it be cheaper to go to Africa or Portugal?
19. Do you think Anna should go to Africa with Ling? Why?/Why not?
20. Do you think Anna will go to Africa with Ling? Why?/Why not?
Serena and George are on holiday in Devon, UK. Serena says to George:

Serena:

“I think tomorrow we can have a lie in until about 8.30, then have a shower, then have breakfast. If you don’t mind, I’ll have cereal and you can have a fry-up, but you’ll have to cook it, as I can’t stand cooking meat. After that, you can wash up, while I have a walk down to the village to get the papers. I’ll get a Telegraph for me and a Mirror for you, as I know you like doing the crossword. When I get back I thought we could play tennis for a couple of hours. Then you can drive me to the coast, where we can find a nice restaurant to have lunch. I’ll probably order a large salad and you can have a fresh seafood dish, if you like. After lunch I’ll want to relax for a while and be alone, so you’ll have to go out on your own somewhere. You should either explore the town, or go to the beach for a couple of hours. We’ll meet up again at about 5 o’clock for dinner. Then I’ll want you to take me out for a drink, or we could always go to the theatre. I think they’ve got a comedy on at the moment. After our evening out I’ll be pretty tired so I’ll probably just go straight to bed. I’m looking forward to a lovely day tomorrow, George, dear. Does everything sound alright to you?”

Questions:

1. Who is speaking?
2. Where are they having their holiday?
3. What time will they get up?
4. What does Serena want for breakfast?
5. What can George have for breakfast?
6. Who will make George’s breakfast?
7. What will George do while Serena is getting the papers?
8. What paper will Serena get for herself?
9. Why will she get the Mirror for George?
10. How long will they play tennis for?
11. Where is Serena planning to have lunch?
12. What can George have for lunch?
13. What does Serena want to do after lunch?
14. What does she suggest that George can do?
15. What time will they meet up for dinner?
16. What does Serena want to do after dinner?
17. What type of play is on at the theatre?
18. What is Serena planning to do after that?
19. Do you think George will agree to all of Serena’s plans? Why? Why not?
20. Do you think they will both enjoy the day? Why? Why not?

It's 7.30pm. Emma phones a recruitment agency and leaves the following message on their answerphone:

Emma:

"Hello. I wonder if you can help me. My name is Emma Heath. I'm looking for a job as an administrator. At the moment I'm working at a solicitor's as a clerk. Do you know Blame, Payne and Co.? I've been working there for about two years but there doesn't seem to be any chance of promotion, so I'm trying to find something else. The other thing is, I'm moving soon, so I'm looking for a job in Leicester. I would prefer it if it was in the city centre really. My current address is 23 Terraced Walk, Derby, DE23 3GP, but I'm going to be moving out on the 30th, and then I'll be living with my mum until I've found a house to rent in Leicester. After the 30th you'll be able to contact me at my mum's. Her address is 8 Cedars Lane, Swinscoe, Derby, DE40 9UR. By the way, my mobile number is 079421 645784. If you do ring me on my mobile, please can you ring after six because I'll be at work all day and my boss doesn't know that I'm planning on leaving. My current salary is 11K per annum and I would like to find something for at least thirteen or more. I'll bring my CV in to your office once I've finished updating it. Oh yes, last month I went on a four-day intensive first aid course, which makes me fully qualified to give first aid."

Questions:

1. Who is the paragraph about?
2. Why does she leave the message?
3. What job does she do at the moment?
4. What job would she like to do?
5. Name the company that she works for.
6. How long has she been working there?
7. Why does she want to leave?
8. Which city is she moving to?
9. What is her address at the moment?
10. Is she planning to buy a house in Leicester?
11. What is her mum’s address?
12. When can she be contacted there?
13. Add together the first four digits of her phone number.
14. When can she be contacted on her mobile number?
15. How much would she like her salary to increase by?
16. What is a CV?
17. What do the letters CV stand for?
18. Is Emma’s boss upset that she will be leaving?
19. In your opinion, is Emma right to look for another job? Why? Why not?
20. Do you think she will be happier living in Leicester? Why? Why not?

Sian phones her friend Khalid and leaves a message on his answerphone:

“Hi, Khalid. I’ve just checked the train times for Tuesday next week and I’ve found a train from Derby to Edinburgh that takes about four and a half hours. Well, four hours and twenty-three minutes to be precise. It leaves Derby at 9.16 in the morning and gets into Edinburgh at 13.39. You have to change once, at Newcastle. It gets into Newcastle at 11.52 and leaves at 12.01. The train to Newcastle is run by Virgin Trains and the train you get from Newcastle to Edinburgh is run by GNER. There is a faster service but it leaves Derby later in the morning – at 10.14 – and you have to change at Darlington. It gets into Darlington Station at 12.14 and then you’ve got a seven-minute wait before your next train leaves. It gets into Edinburgh at 14.21. If you get the first train I can meet you at two o’clock. My sister and her friend never finish work until half past two so they can only come with me to meet you if you get a later train. Let me know which train you’re coming on. If you want to come later just let me know. I’ll be in tonight until half eight-ish, then I’m going out with Michelle. Or you could give me a ring tomorrow night. I’ll be at my mum’s, on 0131 600 46220. I’m going there after work, so ring me any time after about quarter past six and you should catch me there. Oh yes, the number to find out train times is, er, 08457 484950. You could always give them a ring yourself and find out about a different time.”

Questions:

1. Who is speaking?
2. Who does she leave a message for?
3. Where is her friend travelling from and going to?
4. How long exactly does the first journey from Derby to Edinburgh take?
5. How long exactly does the second journey from Derby to Edinburgh take?
6. How many changes are there during the first journey?
7. How long does it take the first train to get from Derby to Newcastle?
8. Where do you have to change during the second journey?
9. How long does it take the second train to get from Darlington to Edinburgh?
10. Which of the two trains taken during the first journey is run by Virgin Trains?
11. Write in words the time that the second train gets into Edinburgh.
12. What is the name of the other train company mentioned?
13. Do you know of a faster way to get from Derby to Edinburgh?
14. What time does the caller’s sister finish work on Tuesdays?
15. If her friend gets the second train, how many people will meet him at the station?
16. What time is the caller going out tonight?
17. Who is she going out with?
18. When is the caller’s friend hoping to travel?

Carolina is telling Lizzie about the first lesson of her new English class:

“Well, I was nervous before it started. There were eight of us altogether, including the teacher. My teacher’s name is Charlotte. She’s only been working there for two months. She used to teach in Spain. The first thing we did was stand in a circle and we had to try to learn everybody’s name, age and where they come from. I don’t know if I can remember all of them, but I’ll try. There was someone called Alexandre. He’s from Portugal too and he’s 23. No, he was 24. There was Mohammad, from Kirkuk in Iraq. He’s 30 – two years older than me. There were two other women – Hélène and Yui-Gui. Hélène’s 38 and comes from France. She was a bit loud and I didn’t talk to her much. Yui-Gui was really nice. We worked together – she was my partner for some of the lesson. She’s from China and used to live in Beijing before she moved to England. She’s 41 years old and married with two children. Patrick came half an hour late. He’s 57 and comes from Eritrea in Africa. Charlotte said that he’s got to come on time if he wants to stay in the class. The other student was Kamal. He was very quiet and didn’t want to tell anyone his age, but I asked him at break-time; he told me that he’s 29. He’s from Afghanistan.”

Questions:

1. Where did Charlotte used to teach?
2. Which student was quiet and which was loud?
3. Which city and country does Mohammad come from?
4. Who is French?
5. Who is 28 years old?
6. What is the name of the teacher?
7. How old is Alexandre?
8. Who comes from China?
9. How many students were female and how many were male?
10. Where does Patrick come from?
11. In which city did Yui-Gui used to live?
12. Who is the oldest student in the class and who is the youngest?
13. How old is Hélène?
14. Who is Eritrean?
15. Who used to live in Spain?
16. Who is Portuguese?
17. How many children does Yui-Gui have?
18. Who is 29 years old?
19. Who came late to the class?
20. What is the average age of the students?
Graham is telling his friend Marco about what happened yesterday:

“I woke up yesterday morning and looked at my alarm clock. It said 2.15pm! I couldn’t believe it. I thought I was late for work, so I jumped out of bed and ran into the bathroom. The clock on the wall in there was two and a half hours ahead of the one in the bedroom. It was very confusing! I had a shower then went downstairs. The clock in the hall was an hour behind the one in the bathroom. When I went into the kitchen I looked at the clock on the microwave, which was three and a quarter hours ahead of the one in my bedroom. I found out later that day that my flatmate, Gordon, had changed all the clocks in my house for a joke. He thought it was very funny. In the living room the clock on the video said it was 3.30am, while in the guest bedroom the clock on the wall next to the window was two hours and twenty-five minutes slower than that. I went into the study and picked up my watch. It was eight hours ahead of the one in the kitchen. I was due at work at 8.30am and didn’t want to be late. I went outside into the garden and looked in at the window of my shed. The clock on the wall in there was three hours behind my alarm clock. There was a postman walking past, but he didn’t know the time. He said that when he left the sorting office an hour or two ago he thought it was about six o’clock. In the end I phoned my brother Alan in Toronto, Canada, and he was really annoyed because I’d woken him up, along with his whole family. He said it was 2.44 in the morning their time. I had forgotten that in Toronto they’re five hours behind us. That’s how I finally found out what time it was!”

What time was it… (use either ‘am’ or ‘pm’)

A. Look at the shopping items below. In your opinion, what is a fair price for each one, and how much is the maximum that you would be willing to pay for each? Give feedback to the whole class.

Fair Price (£/p or $/c):

Max. Price (£/p or $/c):

- A litre of milk –
- A loaf of bread –
- A kilo of beef –
- A dozen (12) eggs –
- A large bunch of flowers –
- A newspaper –
- 6 apples –
- A medium-sized box of chocolates –
- 12 bags of crisps –
- A 2 litre bottle of diet cola –
- A litre of petrol –

B. In groups of 4 or 5 learners, imagine that you are setting up a shop that will sell all of the above items (you could add some of your own to the list too). As a group, agree on a fair price for each one. Give feedback to the whole class.

C. Decide on some special offers that will persuade customers to come into your shop rather than going to a competitor’s. For example, BOGOF, 3 for 2, Half Price, and so on. How many special offers should you have and how long should they last for? How will they affect overall sales? Give feedback to the whole class.

D. In your group, visit a real shop or supermarket and compare their prices and offers with the ones you have agreed on. Do you need to rethink your plans in the light of this? Give feedback to the whole class.

games for the classroom
Speaking & Listening Skills

I-Spy

Students can lead this very simple game where they think of something that they can see in the classroom (or wherever you are) and the others have to guess what it is. Students give a clue by saying the first letter, for example, if they are thinking about the clock on the wall, they would say, 'I spy with my little eye, something beginning with C.' A quick game that gets the students thinking about the vocab relating to their immediate environment.

Class Secrets

Get the group together and ask for a volunteer to leave the room. Once they’ve gone, think of a ‘secret’ about that person, for example, it’s their birthday, or they’re having an affair with the college principal. That kind of thing. When they come back in, they have to guess the secret truth about themselves by asking questions. The rest of the group give clues. A great ice-breaker, this one always raises a laugh.

Simon Says

A party game that works well with English students as a way of practising listening to and understanding commands. The teacher says a number of simple commands, such as, ‘Put your hands on your head’, ‘Stand on one leg’ or ‘Start humming’, and the students have to do what you say – but only if you have prefaced the command with ‘Simon says...’. If you don’t say ‘Simon says...’ and the student follows the command, they are out, and the game resumes until there is a winner.

Party Invitations

The whole class sits in a circle. Tell them that it’s your birthday next week and that you’re planning a birthday party. They are all invited... but on one condition. They must bring you a present, and it must be something that you really want. Each student in turn tells you what they will bring to give you on your birthday. You will either tell them that they can come, or that they are not invited. This depends on what they offer to bring you. The item they’re going to bring must begin with the same letter as your first name. If it does, they can come; if it doesn’t, they can’t. For example, if your name is Lucy and they offer to bring ‘a lemon’ as a present, they will be welcome. If they offer to bring ‘a bottle of wine’ they will be given short shrift! This game is hilarious, as some students will twig onto your ‘unspoken rule’ fairly early on, while some won’t get it at all, however obvious you make it!

Something’s Different

Get the whole class together. Ask one of them to leave the room, then get the remaining students to change five things about the classroom. For example, you could put a chair on a table, or get two students to swap jumpers, or anything – so long as it’s not too subtle. Then bring the student back in and get them to guess what changes you have made.

Whispering Trees

Get the students standing in a line. Stand at one end and whisper a short phrase or sentence... in the ear of the student next to you. For example, you could say, ‘My dad once met Bernard Cribbins in a bus queue in Dover.’ Each student repeats the phrase to their neighbour until you get to the end of the line, when the last student tells the class the sentence they heard, and you can reveal what the original sentence was. A good game for practising listening and speaking skills.

What’s Going On...?

Probably better for an intermediate or advanced class, this one. Prepare twenty questions, based on what is happening in the news (be it local, national or world news). You could include spelling questions too, and questions about different members of the class, for example, ‘Which country does Louisa come from?’ Split the class into two teams and you’re ready to play. Give five points for a correct answer, and bonus points at your discretion for any extra information that the students give in their answers. If the first team doesn’t know the answer, hand it over to the other team for a bonus point.

My Butler Went To Meadowhall

The title refers to Meadowhall shopping centre near Sheffield. The game is really just a version of My Grandmother Went To Market. Students sit in a circle, away from desks and paper, and so on. Tell the students that you teach because you love it and don’t need the money as you are actually rather well off. In fact, you have a butler who goes up to Meadowhall every Friday to go shopping for you, and he buys you lots of different things. This week, however, you can’t decide what to buy, so you are asking the students to help you. You are going to make a list. Start with saying, ‘My butler is going to Meadowhall on Friday and will buy me... (think of any item that you can buy in a shop).’ The next person has to say, ‘Your butler is going to Meadowhall on Friday and will buy you...’ whatever you said, plus an item of their own. The list goes around the circle until the last person has to remember the whole list of items. Students usually give prompts if their fellow students are struggling. A good vocabulary game, as well as being fun and a test of the memory. Plus they get a laugh thinking about your (imaginary – unless you really have one...?) butler.

What’s In The Bag...?

Have a ‘lucky dip’ style bag, or box, which you can use from time to time for this quick activity that draws the class together in mutual curiosity. Put something different in the bag (or box) each time, for example, a paper clip, or an orange. Students take it in turns to feel inside the bag (or box) – without looking – and then describe what the object feels like and what they think it is. This activity can easily be handed over to the students for them to facilitate among themselves, even using items that they have brought in from home.

The Yes/No Game

An old favourite from TV, this is great for practising question and answer forms. Get students up to the front of the class one at a time and ask them questions, about themselves, the weather, the school or college – anything. The student must reply verbally but cannot say the words ‘Yes’ or ‘No’. If they do, they are out. Ask someone to act as the timer (and as the ‘gong’ or ‘buzzer’ when each player slips up and is out), and write the times for how long each student managed to go without saying ‘Yes’ or ‘No’ on the board. If the students get the hang of this game they could play it in pairs, with one asking the questions and the other answering, before swapping over roles.

Audio Pictures

Get the students into pairs, then give one half of the pair a picture from a magazine, for example, a man wearing a hat and coat and playing the piano. They have to describe what they can see, in detail, without showing the picture to their partner, who draws a sketch based on the description. At the end of the description they compare their pictures, before swapping roles. At the end of the session the whole class can see how close all the drawings were to their originals. A good activity for practising communication and listening skills, and giving descriptions.

Our Living Photo Album

Ask each student to bring in one or more photographs of something that is important to them, that you can keep to put into a class photo album. Give them time to prepare a two-minute talk about their photograph, which could be, for example, of a place, or a family member or an event that has touched their life. Then sit in a circle with all the students and your 'living photo album' will come to life, as each student in turn explains why their photo is important or memorable to them. You could make a display with the pictures, or literally fill an album with them that everyone can enjoy looking at. Explain that you will give the photos back at the end of the course (or even at the end of the week). This is a good activity to help a relatively new group get to know each other.

Reading and Writing Skills

Ace Anagrams

Students at all levels enjoy puzzling over this game. It’s also a good way to get them looking in their dictionaries. Your students suggest nine letters at random, either vowel or consonant, which you write on the board. (Or you could have cards with them on if you’re really organised!) In small groups the students have five minutes to come up with as many (real) words as they can from the original nine letters. The team with the most words spelt correctly gets a point, and the next round begins.

Hangman

Another good letters-based game. It’s good because students can get up and lead this one just as well as the teacher. It’s also good because it’s quick and can pull students together for a quick bit of group work just before going home. Think of a word or phrase and draw a number of dashes on the board that corresponds to the number of letters. The other students suggest one letter at a time. If they are correct you have to fill in the letter on the board in its correct place. If they are incorrect you draw part of the hangman shape. Students can take a guess if they know the word. The person who guesses correctly steps up to the board to think of a word for the next session.

What Time Is It On...?

A good one for testing telling the time, and as a general reading comprehension using realia. Select a page from the Radio Times, or any English language TV guide and photocopy it so that each student can have a copy. Split the group into two teams and ask them questions based on the programme information given in the TV guide. For example, you could ask,
“What time is ‘The A-Team’ on?”, and “What time does ‘The A-Team’ finish?”, before moving on to more complex reading comprehension questions such as, “What is the name of the actor who plays ‘Mr.T’ in ‘The A-Team’?” Get the students to nominate a ‘runner’ from their team who runs and writes the answers on the board. You can even get them drawing clock faces as an answer, or writing the answer using the twenty four hour clock. Note: questions need not be ‘A-Team’-based!

Board Game Boffins

As a project, get the students working in pairs or small groups to design a new board game. They have to form a games ‘company’, and then plan the concept and design of their game. After that they have to actually make a working prototype, which they test out, and which is then tested along with all the other ideas in a games tournament. Each company has to explain the reasons behind the design choices that they made in constructing their game. The students then all vote for their favourite games in categories such as: ‘Most playable game’, ‘Game most likely to make a $million’, ‘Best design and construction’, and so on. You could use the board game template on page 73 as a starting point.

Ten Things

Get your students to leave the building and go out in small groups or pairs with the task of writing down ‘Ten things you can see at...’ various places near to your school or college. For example, they could write down ten things you can see at... the leisure centre, the shopping centre, the sports stadium, the post office, the doctor’s, the bus station, the railway station, the market, the funfair, and so on. Ask them to make sure that their spellings are correct before coming back to you with their list(s). Of course you could always make it ‘Fifty things you can see at...’ if your group are particularly gifted – or if you just want to get rid of them for the whole morning...! When they come back, discuss together what each group has found.

What Shops Sell What...?

This is a similar exercise to ‘Ten Things’, in that the students leave the classroom in pairs or small groups and go around town for a couple of hours. They have to write down the proper names of as many shops as they can, along with a brief description of what you can buy at that shop. For example, ‘Marks and Spencer – clothes and food’, ‘Debenhams – clothes, gifts, and perfume’, until they have a list of around twenty shops. When the students get back they could write sentences about the shops, for example, ‘At Marks and Spencer you can buy clothes and food.’ It motivates students to go into and look around shops that they may walk past every day but have never visited. You could always set the list of shops for your students to visit, ensuring a variety of types. Of course, it gives an opportunity to practise shopping vocab wherever you happen to be teaching.

Vocabulary Building

Name And Explain

This is a good game for practising spelling classroom words and getting students to talk about their immediate environment. Split the class into two groups and give each group a pack of sticky labels. Their task is to write labels and stick them on twenty different things in the classroom. Spellings must be correct, and at the end of the game students must give you a tour of their labelled items, explaining what each object is.

What Is It...?

Get the class into two teams. Take one student from each class out of the room, give them both a whiteboard pen (or chalk stick, or marker, etc.) and give them the name of a book, TV show (for example ‘The A-Team’), film, or famous person. They have to run back into the room and draw clues on the board, while the other students try to guess the name that they have been given. They are not allowed to write any words. Students love this game, and it gets rather loud as the students get more involved. Make sure your students are aware of the cultural references that you want to give them. The game can be played just as well using vocab sets such as, furniture, food, animals, and so on.

What Am I...?

For this game you will need to put a sticker on the back of each student, with a noun written on it, for example, apple, chair, Wednesday, bathroom, or bottle of tomato ketchup. The students have to mingle with one another and ask questions to find out ‘What am I...?’ Students can only reply with either ‘Yes’ or ‘No’. Once they have found out what they are, they report to you and tell you what they are and what questions they had to ask in order to work it out. They could then go and write down the different questions. This also works when you use celebrity names instead of nouns – as long as all the students are aware of exactly who all the celebrities are. You could also use specific vocab sets such as countries (‘Am I north of the equator, or south?’), or clothes (‘Am I worn on the head?’) The sky’s the limit! Good for question forms and to get students talking.

Grammar Skills

A Capital Game

Write a load of nouns on the board, both common nouns and proper nouns, but don’t use capital letters. Vary the list of words to suit the level of your group, so for an elementary class you could write something like: ‘table, usa, book, house, garden, england, philip, the times, shirt, ice cream,...’ and so on. The students split into two groups and compete to be the first to write the list of words again, but this time putting capital letters on the proper nouns (in this example, ‘USA, England, Philip, The Times’).

Interesting Articles

Similar to ‘A Capital Game’, this involves writing plenty of different nouns on the board and getting the class – in two teams – to discuss and write down whether there should be ‘a’ or ‘an’ before each word. This is a quick and easy game – intended for elementary students really – that allows the students to identify and practise the grammar rule for indefinite articles. Make sure you throw a few proper nouns into the mix too, just to confuse them!

The Instant Story Generator

The whole group sits in a circle and decides on a few story keywords, for example, a place, a man’s name, a woman’s name, an object, and so on. Tell the students they are going to tell a story as a group. Each student can only contribute one word at a time, before the story moves on to the next person. If the story reaches a natural break the student whose turn it is next can say ‘full stop’ instead of carrying on. The story must include all the keywords that were agreed at the beginning. This is a great game for identifying sentence structure and bringing out grammar points, as well as letting the imagination run riot. A variation is to let each student contribute one sentence instead of just one word.

For more fun worksheets, games and quizzes log onto www.englishbanana.com now!

Action Games

Balloon Rodins

Split the class into small groups and give each one a large quantity of balloons and a roll of sticky tape. Their task is to create a fantastic balloon sculpture, which outshines those made by the other teams. After forty-five minutes or so the groups come together and look at all the sculptures. Each team has to describe what their sculpture represents – and is invited to elaborate on the principles of art that they have been influenced by... or not, as the case may be! Prepare yourselves for some ‘explosive’ balloon fun in this hilarious team-building and communicative activity! Note: this activity works just as well with modelling clay, or lots of old newspapers, instead of balloons.

Dead Heat

The class needs to be in groups of around eight people. Lay out a finish line at one end of the classroom with no desks or chairs in the way. The students stand in a line, as if about to start a race. On your signal they either run or walk towards the finishing line. However, all the students must cross the line at exactly the same time. A fun and energetic warmer which encourages students to talk to each other – particularly when they keep getting it wrong. Give your teams several attempts at this and they should get it in the end.

Get A Move On

Split the class into two teams. Set a starting line and a finishing line. This is basically a slow-walking race, where both teams are competing to be the last to cross the finishing line. The only proviso is that everyone in the race must keep moving forward – just very slowly. It’s also good fun played with individuals in heats, building up to quarter-finals, semi-finals and a grand final. A fun team-building activity that will bring out the team spirit in your group.

8 Dear Ethel

I’m writing to tell you about something that happened yesterday. I got up at the usual time – about 10am – had a shower and made breakfast. I ate a big bowl of cereal and some toast and watched TV for a while. Then I went into the kitchen where I heard a funny noise. I thought it came from behind the cooker. I got my tool box and moved the cooker out of the way.

The noise got louder but I couldn’t see anything. I rang my uncle to ask his advice. He said that he thought it could be a gas leak. When I heard this I just panicked! I put the phone down, ran outside, got in my car and drove to the local police station. I told them about my gas leak but the constable lost his patience with me. He said that I should have phoned the gas company. He wrote his report, then rang the gas company for me.

Then I remembered that my house doesn’t have gas – only electricity! I felt really stupid and knew that the constable would be angry with me for wasting his time, so I ran out of the police station while he was still on the phone. I went home to try to find out what the noise was. On the way I bought a newspaper and I read about an escaped llama that broke out of the city safari park last Wednesday.

When I got home I put my key in the door, turned it, went inside and straight away heard that funny noise again. I held my breath and opened the door slowly. Guess what? I found the llama hiding in my cupboard! I let him stay and he slept in my garden last night. The snoring was so loud! This morning I took him back to the safari park. They were really pleased to see him again and gave me a reward of £50!

Hope you are well. Write soon and let me know how you are. Your friend, Alan

“To get to the bank you need to turn left here then walk for about 200 metres. Turn right onto Stockley Street and you’ll see the park on your left. Walk past the main entrance to the park and turn right into Bromley Avenue. The bank is about 100 metres down Bromley Avenue. It’s opposite the post office. It’s not far from here – probably about 15 minutes if you walk quickly. You’d better hurry as I think it closes at five o’clock.”

“I left school nearly fifteen years ago. My favourite subjects were English, French and History. I enjoyed French because it was interesting learning to speak a different language and I had a good teacher. I didn’t like Science or Maths because they were a bit harder and I didn’t like the teachers much. I’ll never forget when our class went on a trip to France. We stayed in Paris for four nights. It was the first time I’d been abroad. My friends and I had so much fun!”

Dear Aunt Monica

Thank you very much for your letter. It was great to get a letter from you. I am really enjoying university life. I have made some good friends already – especially Helen and Marcus. Helen is from Manchester and Marcus comes from Liverpool. His accent is really weird.

Yesterday we went to Cardiff to do some shopping. Everything is much more expensive than back at home. I miss Jamaica and of course I miss you and my naughty little brothers. Cardiff is a big city – the capital city of Wales. Wales is next to England and a separate country, but they are both part of the UK. It’s confusing, isn’t it?

My course is very interesting. I am learning so much about the environment of this country. My teachers are good, except I wish they would speak more slowly some of the time. I can’t always hear everything that they are saying. That’s why I’m using a small tape recorder to record every lecture. Then I can listen to it in my room as I study. It really helps.

Thanks for asking about all my boyfriends! No, I haven’t met anyone yet. I’m here to learn about the environment and practise my English, rather than go out drinking in pubs and clubs with boys every night! I hope that I will find someone who shares my interests. Until that time you will have to make do with me being a single girl!

With lots of love to you and my darling brothers Roger and Paul, and all my family and friends there. I will see you very soon. Hope I will hear from you soon too.

Your loving niece

63 This template can be used in various ways to create many different class surveys. One method is for students to write down a question such as, ‘Which foods do you like?’ They then write up to eight different options in separate boxes along the top row, for example: ‘pasta, fish and chips, curry, lamb, chocolate biscuits, fruit, jacket potatoes, ice cream’. They interview different members of the class, writing the name of each person they ask in a separate box in the left-hand column. Students put a tick or a cross in the box to indicate whether their interviewee likes (tick) or dislikes (cross) each option.

This is a blank template which learners can use to make their own wordsearches. Method: write twenty words that are related in some way, for example, languages, colours or film stars. Make sure that all of the spellings are correct. Then, write the words in the grid, with one letter in each space. Words can go horizontally, vertically, diagonally, right way up, or wrong way up – it doesn’t matter. When all the words are in the grid, fill in the remaining squares with random letters of the alphabet, to ‘hide’ the words that you have added. Tip: make your wordsearch more difficult by adding ‘red herrings’. For example, if one of your words is ‘YELLOW’, you could add ‘YELL’ or ‘YELLO’ as you fill up the remaining spaces.

This worksheet works best when photocopied and enlarged to at least A3 size. Split your students into small groups and ask them to design a board game (see ‘Board Game Boffins’ – page 89).

Note: some dates are the same every year while others vary from year to year:

New Year’s Day is on 1st January. It’s the first day of the year and a public holiday.
St Valentine’s Day is on 14th February. We send cards and gifts to our loved ones.
St David’s Day is on 1st March. St David is the Patron Saint of Wales. Pancake Day (Shrove Tuesday) is usually in early March, on a Tuesday. It’s the day before the Christian period of Lent begins. St Patrick’s Day is on 17th March. St Patrick is the Patron Saint of Ireland. Mother’s Day is usually in March, on a Sunday. We give cards and gifts to our mums. British Summer Time usually starts in March, on a Sunday. Our clocks go forward one hour, so we lose an hour’s sleep. How annoying! Good Friday is in either March or April. Christians remember the death of Jesus Christ. It is a public holiday in the UK. Easter Sunday comes two days after Good Friday. Christians remember the resurrection of Jesus Christ. Easter Monday Bank Holiday occurs the day after Easter Sunday. A ‘bank holiday’ means it is a public holiday. St George’s Day is on 23rd April. St George is the Patron Saint of England. May Day Bank Holiday is on the first Monday in May. Spring Bank Holiday is on the third week of June. On the Longest Day we have the maximum number of hours of daylight. After today the hours of daylight per day go down each day, until we reach the Shortest Day in the third week of December. August Bank Holiday is on the last Monday in August. British Summer Time usually ends in October, on a Sunday. Our clocks go back one hour so we get an extra hour in bed (on this day only!).

Hallowe'en is on 31st October. Children celebrate all things scary and spooky. Bonfire Night is on 5th November. We remember Guy Fawkes and his failed gunpowder plot to blow up the British Parliament and kill King James I in 1605. Remembrance Sunday is on the second Sunday in November. We remember all the servicemen and women who have died in wars and conflicts around the globe. The Shortest Day (Winter Solstice) is usually in the third week of December. On the Shortest Day we have the least number of hours of daylight. After today the hours of daylight per day increase each day, until we reach the Longest Day in the third week of June. Christmas Eve is on 24th December. The day before the Christian festival of Christmas. Christmas Day is on 25th December. Christians celebrate the birth of Jesus Christ. It is a public holiday in the UK. Boxing Day is on 26th December. It is a public holiday in the UK. New Year's Eve is on 31st December. We celebrate the year that has passed and look forward to the coming new year.

Bingo is a popular game in the UK, played by thousands of people every week, often for large cash prizes. I'm not suggesting you start giving away millions in class, but students always have a lot of fun competing for more modest prizes, such as chocolate bars and so on! Method: copy the worksheets and cut up the bingo cards. Give one to each student and ask them to write down a random selection of fifteen numbers between 1-90 – one in each of the blank spaces. You could play bingo by either using a machine or computer software program that can generate numbers randomly, or you could think of a random set of numbers yourself. If you do the latter, make sure you write down the numbers that you have read out, so that you can check the winning student's bingo card for accuracy. Give prizes for the first student to complete any line, then the first student to complete their game board. If the same person wins both times, keep playing and award the remaining prize to whoever finishes next.
